SHARPEN SKILLS

Assess your level of project management knowledge with PMI's Knowledge Assessments

Choose from three specific Knowledge Assessments for project, program and portfolio management. Each assessment consists of 100 multiple-choice questions that measure essential project management knowledge. No designation or credential is earned for completing it, but it is a way for you to begin mapping your career. Exam results are provided immediately after completion.

Enroll in SeminarsWorld® and eSeminarsWorld™ training courses

For your continuing education, PMI offers great learning opportunities with SeminarsWorld® – multi-day courses focused on a single project management-related topic. Online courses also are available for your convenience via eSeminarsWorld™. Take the course at a time of day and location that suits your schedule, and gain practical skills that you can apply to your job.

Learn more about professional development opportunities through PMI Registered Education Providers (R.E.P.s)

A good way to find project management courses on any topic is through PMI's worldwide network of Registered Education Providers. These are organizations approved by PMI to provide project management training based on PMI-established criteria and to issue Professional Development Units (PDUs) for course completion.
